DEADLINE FOR THE FEBRUARY ISSUE

Wednesday, January 17, 2018

Save the Date!

Sunday, January 28, 2018

One service only at 9:00am

followed immediately by the

Annual Meeting

in the Vi and Paul Loo Parish House

From Pastor Heather

The wrapping paper has been thrown away. The debate over when to take the tree down begins. When do the nights of Christmas end and the rest of the winter begin? The hope of the incarnation celebrated at Christmas becomes the reality of daily life. Now is the time to begin to work on all that it means to be a follower of a God who became human.

God did not walk this earth as a fully-grown man, Jesus, but began as an infant: learning to take first steps, eat first foods, and speak first words. This is how we follow Jesus. We do not have it all together nor are we completely faithful on our first try. We begin little by little to step out with God's message of grace, love, and mercy.

When I think about how we begin, I often come back to the words of Howard Thurman.

*When the song of the angels is stilled,
When the star in the sky is gone,
When the kings and princes are home,
When the shepherds are back with their flock,
The work of Christmas begins:
To find the lost,
To heal the broken,
To feed the hungry,
To release the prisoner,*

*To rebuild the nations,
To bring peace among people,
To make music in the heart.*

Now that we are approaching the end of Christmas and looking towards Epiphany it is time for us to try to take our new steps in walking in the hope and joy of the incarnation. What new aspect of following Jesus are you going to try?

I encourage you to take your first steps in the work of Christmas to bring God's love to the world. It can be hard to step out in new ways. Just like a small child learning to walk we may not succeed the first, second, or third time. We are called as Christmas ends not to forget how God uses even a newborn infant to shine God's light.

Lay Leadership Opportunity

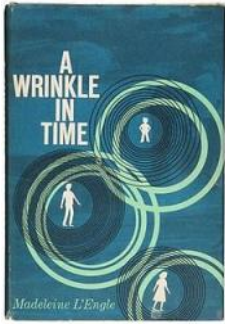

Interested in running for Vestry? We are currently accepting nominations for members to help lead our parish in the next few years. Please speak with Kimberly Frank or Pastor Heather if you would like to nominate yourself or someone else.

A Celebration of New Ministry
January 13, 2018 - 4 pm

The date has been set to formally celebrate the ministry of Pastor Heather Hill among us. Bishop Bob Fitzpatrick will join us to induct Pastor Heather into her position as the Rector of St. Clement's. What a wonderful occasion this will be with plenty of rejoicing and festivity so plan now to attend.

Adult Discussion Group January Topic:

A Wrinkle in Time by Madeleine L'Engle will be the focus of the Adult Discussion group for January. Everyone is invited to join us starting on January 7 at 8:45am. Keep an eye on announcements in March and plan to join a group going to see the new movie based on the book which is due in theaters in early March. Younger readers are invited to join in the discussion of this Newbery Medal book. Copies of the book are available in the office for $10.

Bible Workbench

Would you like to know more about the Bible? One of the legs of the three legged stool of the Episcopal Church is Scripture. For the past eight years we have been studying the Bible and relating it to today's world. This has literally been life changing for some of our participants. We meet at 8:45 am between services in Meeting Room 2 of the Parish Hall. Please join us and in no time you will be able to hold your own in any discussion concerning the Bible. Open to all to open your mind!

If you would like to submit a new or up-dated photo to be included, please email your photo to the office at parishadmin@stclem.org. If you would like to have your picture taken, please let the office know so we can make arrangements. Let's strive for 100% participation this year!

Carnival Parking Fundraiser

It's almost time again for our only major fundraiser of the year. The Punahou Carnival will be February 3 & 4 and we will be parking cars on our lot both days. Volunteers are needed as Gate Keepers, Runners/Spotters, Parking Attendants, and people at the Key Tables. We also welcome donations of snacks, lunch items, chili ingredients (or the chili itself), and black Sharpies and ballpoint pens. Sign up sheets will be in the back of the church during January or you can call the office at 955-7745 to volunteer.

This is St. Clement's main fundraising event. The money raised supports endeavors in various inreach and outreach ministries and helps to maintain our grounds. Please join us for fellowship, fun, and food. It's a great way to meet new church members and reconnect with old church friends. Volunteer—we all benefit from it in some way.

The Gift

If I see the gift as mine alone to give,
I might give hesitantly,
even grudgingly, considering my options,
than giving from a sense of ought.

If I see the gift as God's who allows me to use it for a time,
then the gift can flow more freely,
as I join with others
to be a channel
for God's love and mercy.

Vestry Highlights - December 2017

The vestry met on December 12, 2017. Highlights of this meeting include:

- Acceptance of the recommendations of the Compensation Committee for staff salaries for 2018
- Approved the draft Financial Statement of Ministry (fka the budget) for 2018
- Voted in favor of having the church tented for termites after live critters were found in the sacristy and other areas. This must be done before other work on the church (roof, painting) can commence..
- By email vote, approved the preliminary procedures audit report of 2015 as submitted by Carr, Gouveia, Inc. and accepted the responses to the recommendations contained in the report as written by the Parish Administrator.

*Submitted by Moani Crowell
Vestry Clerk*

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, January 9 at 6 pm. Parishioners are welcome and encouraged to attend.
We serve a light supper prior to the meeting and enjoy having visitors.

A View from the Pew

Shortly before Christmas, I read the results of a poll, conducted every year at this time, showing that more and more people do not believe that faith in God or abiding by a religion is necessary to make us moral and ethical people. What is more, the polls invariably relate this increase with other polls which show a decrease in people who believe in God or follow a religion at all. However, while the results of these two polls are related, the subjects of the two polls, meaning faith in God and following a religion, and being moral and ethical, have little to do with each other. It is like taxes and economic performance. Contrary to urban mythology and political demagoguery, when taxes have been highest in the last 120 years of American history, economic growth has been greatest. Apples and oranges. Go figure.

On the other hand, if we are looking for morality and ethical behavior, to be sure we can find it while believing in God and abiding by a religion that is faithful to God, but the reality is we do not have to stop there. We can become a Jaycee or join the Lions Club and do just as well. We can study Aikido or practice Yoga. We can read and discuss philosophy or meditate. However, if we seriously think moral and ethical behavior makes God and religion unnecessary, which is the not-so-subtle message of these polls, then we have missed the point not only of morals and ethics, but of God and religion.

Morals and ethics are based on ideals, whether mundane or divine. In a warrior society such as ancient Sparta, might was right, warriors lived by a moral code embodying an ethos of duty, honor, courage, loyalty, and personal sacrifice to the nobility and kings, and yet, the ethic of mercy for example was conspicuously absent. In a Confucian society such as medieval China, harmony between individuals of the same caste, within families, and among the various social classes was to be promoted and preserved above all else. Yet, the cost was high, requiring a legal system and law enforcement that was as all-encompassing as it was uncompromising. In an industrial society like the 20th century United States, to quote President Calvin Coolidge, "What's good for business is good for America." Exploitation of natural resources. Mass production. Market control. Conspicuous consumption. Ever-increasing standards of material living. Centralization of wealth. In other words, morals and ethics are not universal, as much as we would like to think so. Instead, they are based on ideals and, often sadly, they are only as "moral and ethical" as the "ideals" themselves.

Believing in God and following a religion is something very different. To be sure, out of this belief and pursuit, a morality and ethos will emerge, but that is not the point. The point is believing in God, having faith in God, and following

God through all of the good, the bad, the beautiful, and the ugly of our human experience. The point is to have a relationship with God and, as a result, to trust God to inspire, guide and lead us, in body, mind and soul, every day of our lives. The point is to give thanks to God for life itself. In return, out of our thankfulness will emerge these much-discussed yet much-misunderstood values we call morality and ethics. Even so, out of our thankfulness God too emerges, God too is revealed, and God too is made manifest in the way we live, despite our very selves.

The Torah, usually translated into Modern English as "The Law" from the Koine Greek, into which it was first translated from the Classical Hebrew, is not an altogether accurate translation. It is derived from an archery term in Classical Hebrew for how an archer must shoot an arrow in order to hit the mark. In my mind, a better translation would be "The Way," but "The Flow" would even be more true. In other words, if we want to hit the mark, we cannot just aim an arrow and expect to hit it. Instead, we have to follow the way, be in the flow, in which a good archer braces their bow, addresses the mark, pulls the arrow from the quiver, nocks the arrow into the arrow plate and rest, draws the bowstring back to the anchor-point on their face, holds the bow and arrow in resting-position while sighting the mark and accounting for distance, elevation, and weather conditions, releases the bowstring, maintains a release-position while assessing the loft and trajectory of the arrow until it hits the mark or misses, and how they repeat the process ad infinitum until it becomes ingrained, inherent, instinctual.

To believe and have faith in God is a life-long process out of which we learn to love the One God, the Only God; to deify, idolize, and worship no-thing and no-one; to not use God's name for our own vain and self-serving purposes; to keep Holy a Day for the Lord when we literally "cease" (i.e. sabbath / shabbat) doing what we do the other six days, when we commune with one another and as a result God, and above all else when we give thanks for life; to honor our mothers and fathers, and all of the elders of our lands; to be honest in all matters with one another; to be faithful in all relationships with one another; to preserve, protect and promote life; to speak truthfully to and about one another; and to desire and seek out only that which is rightfully ours. It is to love God with all of our hearts, minds, strength and souls; and to love our neighbors as we do ourselves. It is to love one another as God loves us.
